

Everything's easier and more efficient with a connected kitchen.

As more and more tech savvy consumers use smart mobile devices, they're also looking to integrate every aspect of their home with the convenience of the internet. And now, thanks to the Home Connect app, you have a way to control your appliances remotely. Your daily tasks don't only have to start when you enter the room. In a connected space, you can begin even before you arrive home. Let's take a look at how today's technology innovations can help you:

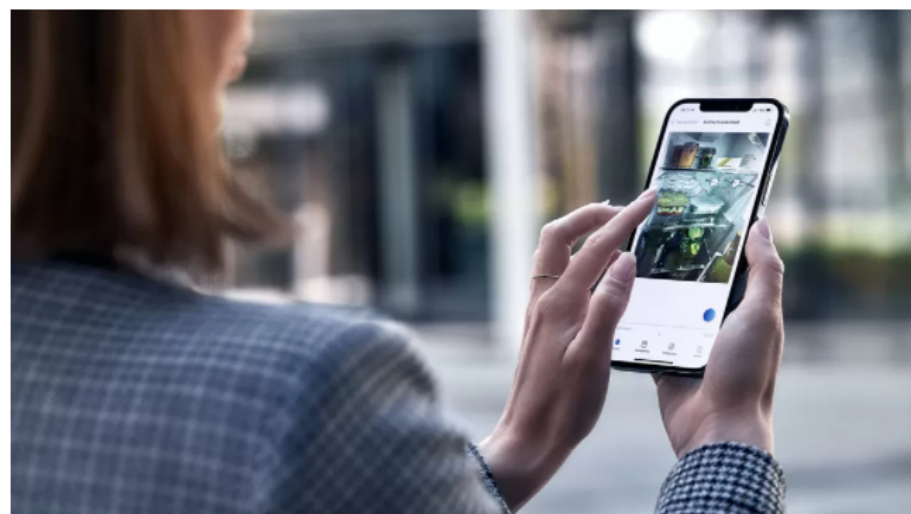

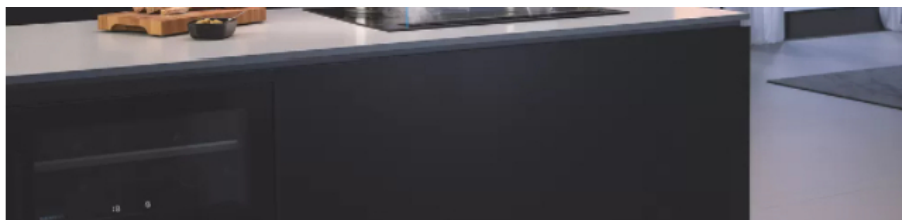

Control your appliances remotely.

Too busy at home? Use the Home Connect app to start and monitor your oven from anywhere. The app also sends you a push notification when the baking you a push notification when the baking programme is finished.

Stepping away from your hob? Monitor and control your cooking zones without fear of overcooking your dish. You'll also get a push notification when the timer on your hob is up. Your hood also starts automatically when connected to the hob via Home Connect. Note that for safety reasons, your cooktop cannot be switched on while on the move.

Remotely check your fridge, and learn proper food storage.

Avoid overbuying when shopping. With the Home Connect app, you can check what's in your fridge from anywhere using the in-fridge cameras. Now, you'll always know what you need and what you don't. Note that the in-fridge camera feature is dependent on your model or country.

The app can also tell you how best to store your favourite foods to keep them fresh for longer, avoiding food waste in the process. Need to quick chill after shopping? Just activate the Super Freeze setting that some freezers have through the app and retain all the nutrients of your food.

Try voice control.

Have your hands full? Just ask your voice assistant to pre-heat your oven while you prepare your ingredients. Too busy to make your favourite coffee beverage in the morning? With Home Connect and Amazon Alexa, you can set up your morning routine with your coffee machine so your coffee will be ready when you are. With Amazon Smart Reordering Service your dishwasher with Home Connect reorders dishwasher tablets when you are running low, so that you never run out of tablets again.

No more guessing when washing.

A smart washing machine gives you true flexibility at home. Not sure which washing programme to use? Just answer some questions about fabric and colour on the app. Then easyStart will remotely begin your programme. You'll get a better performance from your appliance with the ideal washing programme when selected via EasyStart. When your wash cycle is done, intelligentDry ensures drying your clothes is easier and faster. Home Connect lets your washer communicate with your dryer, sending it all relevant information so it can choose the best program, heat level, and time to dry your clothes.
